Chittu lived in a beautiful green forest.

One morning, Chittu opened her window.

Chittu was excited about her picnic.

She packed some tasty food.

Kiki the bird joined Chittu.

Pattu the frog came hopping along.

The three friends set off for a picnic.

They found a beautiful picnic spot. ✨

Suddenly, a raindrop landed on Chittu's nose.

Dark clouds gathered in the sky.

The rain began to pour.

The friends ran under the big tree. ✨

The rain made some biscuits wet.

Chittu's picnic plan had changed.

Then Chittu had a new idea.

They used big leaves as umbrellas. But the strong wind blew the leaves away.

The friends laughed at the flying leaves.

Chittu spotted an old tree hollow.

Inside was a warm, dry place.

Chittu thought they could picnic there.

The friends decorated the tree hollow. ✨

The hollow became a lovely picnic spot.

The friends happily shared their food.

Chittu made little boats from leaves.

The leaf boats floated in the rainwater.

After a while, the rain stopped.

A beautiful rainbow appeared in the sky. 🌈

Chittu and her friends were happy.

Their plan changed, but the day became wonderful.

A new way can still lead to a happy day.

Kids, what would you do if your plan changed?
